Ky. Shootout

Post 9-11-68

RICHMOND, Ky.—Ten of fourteen men charged with murder in an interracial gun battle on Labor Day were free on $10,000 bond but the others remained in jail.

The shooting, which came at the conclusion of a right wing group's meeting, left one white man and one Negro dead.

Eight of the defendants are white. Most of them say they are members of the National States' Rights Party, right-wing group that says its goal is a white Christian America without Jews or Negroes.